A few things you may want to know before booking your hunt.

- All big game hunting with Trophy Mountain Outfitters requires horseback riding. Horseback riding in the steep rugged mountains of Wyoming is very demanding both physically and mentally. The horses are mountain wise and sure-footed but be prepared to be stiff and sore. These four-legged bulldozers are the best mode of transportation while hunting the backcountry; we couldn't do it without them.

-All of our hunts are very physically demanding. Many clients have told us time and time again that their hunt with us was the most physically challenging thing they have ever done. Many have also said it was the most rewarding. Be prepared to be push yourself to the limit as your guide will go the extra mile in trying to get you on that trophy you came for.

- All of our hunts are 100% fair chase. The game animals we hunt are all free ranging. There are no fences, no private property, nor any land barriers to keep them from moving and roaming freely. The areas we hunt are some of the most game rich areas found anywhere but weather, predators; hunting pressure and many other variables can alter game movement and herds. Because of this it is never a guarantee that you will go home with or even see the trophy you came to pursue.

-Because of the steep terrain that the horses must carry us over we have a hunter weight limit of 280 lbs. This weight limit is for the safety of the hunter as well as the stock.

-If you have any health issue's you will want to discuss them with us before booking your hunt. This may save you a lot of time and money beforehand. Once on the mountain it is too late.

-If an animal is wounded it is our policy that the hunt is over for that client. We will search for the wounded animal but because of ethics and game management that client won't hunt for another animal.
